2012 – The Year We Stopped Graffiti?

Now wouldn't that be a great headline for your city?

In reality, it is not that far of a stretch, what does it take to accomplish this you ask? It takes a commitment to use all the available tools that is at your disposal. It also takes funding if you want to catch vandals in the act and get them prosecuted. Nografi can put you in touch with those vendors who have gear that has been proven to actually work to catch vandals in the act, and to alert you to that crime in progress with photo proof so you are able to make those arrest and get your restitution.

If you are more interested in just removing graffiti and making graffiti disappear without dealing with catching the vandals. We can put you in touch with a company that will show you how this can be accomplished.

Let's talk openly here!

Are you really serious about stopping graffiti?

If you are still just painting over or cleaning graffiti and nothing more, then the answer is NO!

To make an impact on your cities amount of graffiti, you need to stop the vandals from doing it!

If you spend $100,000 a year to remove graffiti
What do you expect to spend next year? or the next?

If you do not stop the graffiti vandal
Your cost just continue and removal just becomes an line item on your annual budget

Let us provide you with the information to Help Stop Graffiti

Do you favor graffiti exhibits sponsored by art museums?

Nograp disapproves of this practice, Some cities try this same approach, thinking that a place for vandals to show their work, or a free area to paint will help stop graffiti. It does not! Galleries promote graffiti, and how do you get to be a prominent graffiti "artist" By vandalizing your city over and over, practice practice practice!

As graffiti vandals will tell you, in order for graffiti to be true graffiti, it has to be illegal. So no matter what you do to work with these vandals, hard core vandals will continue to plague your city.

It has been shown that graffiti around these galleries increases while a show is being put on, vandals have to travel to and from, and they cannot help themselves and will tag the neighborhood. This same thing happens when a city does not do the research on the pit falls of free walls, graffiti will increase sharply in the area surrounding these walls, that is why all these walls eventually get closed, but why not learn from others, do the research and see that it does not work, before you go out and try it and add to your graffiti problem.

Graffiti Reduction

Because I have a Law Enforcement background, I tend to favor those programs that allow police to capture vandals in the act and thus recover damages.

But there are programs out there that have been shown to work quite well at keeping graffiti from becoming an issue and reducing the occurrences.

Both programs require an initial investment, as we all know, nothing is free.

We are happy to put you in touch with leaders in both aspects so that you can gather the information that best suits your needs.
